

SATURDAY
Dec. 1, 2018
9 - 11:30 a.m.

Medical Education and Research Facility (MERF)
375 Newton Road,
Iowa City, IA 52242

Girls Go STEM!

Now's a great time to discover STEM
(science, technology, engineering, and math)

GIRLS IN GRADES 6 THROUGH 8: Discover the exciting world of STEM (science, technology, engineering, and math) as you engage in fun, hands-on medical simulations and science experiments, and learn how you can make a difference in health care careers.

PARENTS: Join University of Iowa experts and discuss current adolescent health topics and academic preparation for your student.

Girls Go STEM!

SATURDAY
December 1, 2018

Time: 9-11:30 a.m.

Where: University of Iowa Carver College of Medicine
Medical Education and Research Facility
375 Newton Road,
Iowa City, IA

Individuals with disabilities are encouraged to attend all University of Iowa-sponsored events. If you are a person with a disability who requires a reasonable accommodation in order to participate in this program, please contact UI Health Care Marketing and Communications, Collegiate and Community Relations in advance at (319) 335-8886 or email STEM-Education@uiowa.edu.

Register: www.medicine.uiowa.edu/community or call (319) 335-8886

This free educational program is targeted to girls in grades 6 through 8. Students must be accompanied by an adult for the program. Space is limited; advance registration is required.

UNIVERSITY OF IOWA
HEALTH CARE

Collegiate and Community Relations
4144 Westlawn
Iowa City, Iowa 52242